“ Not everyone loves doing their taxes; we know that. With SmartLook™, we have the ability to have our experts see what the customer sees and highlight areas to help direct the customer. Our one-way video lets the customer connect the TurboTax expert they are speaking with. It’s been a game-changer for Intuit.”

Stacie Herring
Intuit’s Director of Assisted Experience

more information. The goal is to streamline how fast TurboTax experts can provide nurturing expertise and crucial answers to get customers moving forward successfully through the tax prep process.

This capability, dubbed SmartLook™, takes TurboTax collaboration to a new level of customer confidence. Help is delivered visually on-screen by a live TurboTax expert who can draw, annotate, and highlight items directly on the user interface. Through one-way video, customers can see the experts working on their behalf. Intuit calls this unprecedented level of collaboration “a game changer.”

Crucial advantage. Intuit chose Glance Networks’ next generation visual engagement platform to allow thousands of Intuit experts to collaborate easily and quickly with TurboTax customers. Unlike traditional screen sharing solutions, Glance’s patented cobrowsing technology controls what content is shared. After gaining permission from the customer, experts can instantly view content within the customer’s TurboTax browser window with no lag time. Glance supports any device, mobile or otherwise.

Intuit’s experts can visually illustrate and augment their verbal guidance to users by circling, highlighting, and emphasizing important points directly within the browser window. They can indicate where key elements are located in the user interface. They then clarify how to fill in information and best exploit the many options offered by TurboTax’s step-by-step tax preparation process.

Intuit found just what it was looking for in Glance’s cloud-based cobrowsing technology: a global solution with encrypted local session services requiring no application downloads or Java code to be installed on a user’s device. A crucial advantage was the Glance solution’s ability to automatically prevent experts from seeing the user’s personal information.

Salesforce awarded its 2016 Innovation in Service Award to Intuit and Glance for powering this new level of customer interaction for TurboTax users. The Innovation Awards showcase the breadth and depth of cutting-edge solutions emerging through Salesforce’s connected ecosystem. Glance was the only independent software vendor to receive a Service Cloud Innovation Award in 2016.

Same page. With Glance’s market-leading visual engagement solutions, Intuit’s SmartLook™ feature allows experts to engage instantly with TurboTax customers and see the actual screen the user is stuck on. SmartLook™ allows conversations to become immediately relevant to the user’s issue, without going through the awkward and confusing verbal Q&A process that is common in traditional customer support sessions (“What do you see on your screen?” “Can you find this field?”).

Initially, Intuit rolled out the SmartLook™ capability to thousands of experts across 15 different locations, conducting more than one million customer interactions with dramatic results:

- 10% Improved Intuit’s Customer Resolution Rate by 10%
- 18% Increased Transactional Net Promoter Score (tNPS) by 18%
- 15% Reduced Average Handle Time (AHT) by more than 15%

Remarkably, Intuit’s Net Promoter Score (NPS) was higher than Uber, Google, and Microsoft Office¹. Quite an achievement in a product dedicated to taxes!

Personal touch. Frustration levels often derail the online tax preparation process. Glance empowers a new level of online experience for TurboTax users. It has eliminated the game of “20 questions” that often precedes an agent and user getting on the same page. Intuit agent productivity has increased because SmartLook™. The company can now focus their time and expertise on resolving issues and adding value, rather than struggling to get in sync with users and engaging in longer explanations.

“To us, just because you’re using digital technology doesn’t mean that the interaction has to be impersonal,” says Herring. “Intuit is full of people who care passionately about our customers, and visual technology takes the human element leaps and bounds forward in the experience.”
